

iPad, ADS-B, and Modern Flight Planning for General Aviation

If you want to get more out of your avionics, including iPad, this is a chance to better understand the capabilities of this FREE service, including in-cockpit weather and traffic. The 4 hour HANDS ON seminar will go in depth into using the iPad as an electronic flight bag for weather, flight planning, and navigation. ATP, CFII and FAASafety Team Rep Adam Lockamy will also answer common questions about iPad, ADS-B and how a better knowledge of both benefit you as a pilot. Cost is only $99 and includes lunch. Don't miss this one! This seminar is for YOU!!!

Directions: Driving: From I-126, turn right on Assembly St. Left on Rosewood Drive, then follow signage to the airport GA terminal. Flying: Taxi to Eagle Aviation at Columbia Downtown (CUB) and follow line personnel for parking.
